Ref. FAR Case 2001-014

To Whom It May Concern:

I am opposed to any firm, large or small, which violates laws and regulations, being awarded contracts by the United States Government. I am certain that many large corporations know full well the regulations but determine they will make more money by ignoring them, and if they are caught they will pay the fine, and increase their prices to cover that cost and go their merry way.

It is time to tell them to play by the rules or they get no further business from Uncle Sam and the American tax payers. At the very least, they should be barred for a period of 10 years. There are surely others who can perform the same work as efficiently. The government just needs to look for them.

Sincerely,

Mary E. Wampler
